A MONETARY CONFERENCE

one Will Probably Be Held Here Next Winter.

CAN BE OF LITTLE VALUE

While England Will Be Represent ed, Her Representatives Will Be Without Power - The Only Concess sion to Be Expected Would Be Reopening of the Indian Mint.

It is enderstood that the bimetallic con seeden to Europe has secored the intinu ion from the British government that it sometary conference, to be held in this its next wimer. So official response has been made by Great Britain to the venues of Estors Stevenson, Paine and Wolcort, but they believe from what has een said to them that that country will representatives to the conference The envoys have reported recently also that their comption in France was much more favorable than was thought in this country at the time of their visit to Paris. and that France practically accepted to join in a conference, and abide by its results, provided Great Britain could be nduced to do likewise.

The importance of this conference, which it now seems probable will occur as far as any real results are concerned is questioned by gold, silver, and bimetallic people alike. This Covernment has made no sur restions about the basis of an international simulative agreement and no definite atement regarding a basts of agreement was included in the instructions to the spe ial envoys. it is stated by officers of the Acquinistration that their business was oldy to tring about an international con-ctance, leaving the defails to be determined

While several members of the present gitish government, including Mr. Halfour, are theoretical bimetallists out of office. heir actions as officials will be controlled onlinely by other influences.

teermany is another country from which ith or no in-operation can be expected exion of the re-establishment of dvocates of tree coinage of silver among ot regarded the project with favor. Boron the United States, who has been placed at he head of the imperial freezery, is at mesompromising advocate of the single Any agreement that might be made by international conference would doubtess be one which would practically throw of the two metals upon the United States Birnetallist, was seen at his office vestenday by a reporter for The Times as to bis opin on of the news that Great Britain as consented to the conference. He said: "I attach no importance to it whatever antter of courtees, would comply with She has participated in all of the ther monetary conferences which have been held. But a conference is a very different thing from an agreement and it is a recognized fact that England has here

"Nothing can be accomplished without England, looking at the matter from an in termitional temperatic standpoint, because the other great powers of Europe will do orthing without the joint action of Gren

The prost favorable suggestion which as thus for been made as to what England will do in favor of such an agreement is to recorn the East Indian mint. In my judgment, that would not be enough to satisfy the other nations which are exected to co-operate. When the other con was already open and coining up to its full capacity. That was not deemed sufficient then, and I can see no reason why it should be held sufficient naw. In saying this, I morely refer to what other En-ropenn states would require; not what the United States would exact. "For my own part, while I do not object to an international agreement, I would pre-fer to see the United States act alone, for I telieve we have the power to do so with perfect rafety, and that the opening of the American mint to the free comage of silver Would very speedily force Europe to himetellism, as a pieasure of self-preserva-As having a rather peculiar bearing upon the work of Senator Wolcott's cou-rulssion. Mr. Eartine adverted to the curency nessage recently sent to Congress

y President McKinley 'In that message the President vis fally adopted the views set forth by the Indianapelis convention," said Mr. Bar "The principal feature of that platform was an unqualified demand for the maintenance of the gold standard.

"It was a nest astonishing circumstance that the President should thus commend to Congress a report strongly advocating the maintenance of the gold standard at the very time when he has a commission in Europe estensibly laboring for the over-throw of that standard and the restornsion of thestallien. .

"I can scarcely conceive what prompted the President to send in such a message at such a time onless he takes it for granfed either that the monetary conference will fall or that the Senate will completely ignote the message.

"But in any event it seems to me that very principle of propriety demanded that Mr. McKinley should withhold such a messame as that until the monetary conference had made its report. If it should be success ful in securing the restoration of bindet aliasm that itself would be a most important change in our monetary system. In fact it could obviate the chief objection to the one witch now exists, namely the extreme difficulty of maintaining an exclusive gold reserve My judgment is that the President does not expect any agreement upon the subject. Neither do I, nithough, of course, I may be nestaken. I cannot help thinking. though, tust he is pursuing a very inconsist ent course "There are many who regard it as r sons waste of time to talk about fromistoncy in connection with Mr. McKie ler's record upon the financial question. He voted for free column straight in 1877 and boasted of it right up to the year 1890. In the Pifty-first Congress he voted and spoke in favor of the Windom bill, and the Sherman substitute therefor, and during that very session I heard him declare that he could support any measure, even free coinage, if the Republicans could or would agree upon it. He had always posed as a bimetallist, criticlaing Mr. Geveland strongly for his gold standard views, and no one thought of soon a thing as Mr. McKinley being a Balloun Ascension at River View.

River View is cool and shady and is an ideal place to spend a warm Sunday. Last Sunday the thermometer registered 9 degrees cooler at the View than at Washington, and this week the difference has been as marked. Tomorrow, in addition to the free concerts by Chris Orth and his orchestra, and the many other attractions at the View, there will be a balloon ascension by Grace Shannon, the celebrated female aeromant. The monster balloon will be inflated in the open fields, and those who desire to see the operation can do so. Miss Shannon will un this ascension endeavor to surpass all her previous records, and will go as high as the balloon will take her before cutting the parachute loose. The Pentz will leave her wharf at 11 a.m., 2 45 and 6.15 p. m., and will record and 9.30 p. m. The ascendon will take place at 7,15 p. m., and those who come down the last boat can see it. THE ALASKAN BOUNDARIES SUICIDE AFTER A QUARREL

Over Alleged British Claims.

The Dividing Line Fully Establish ed and Canadian Amended Map Considered to Re Absurd.

The State Department is not alarmed over the reports that since the discovery of gold in Alaska Great Britain will push her ciaires to the "amended" boundary been made to create a sensation out of a simple proposition, over which there can be no disagreements. The Yukon goldnelos he in northern Alaska, and the boundary consists of the 141st meridian prolonged from Mount St. Elias north to the frozen ocean. The line has never been marked, but its location is a simple matter of mathematical and astronomical calculation. If this line bisects the gold field that on the one side is Britsh and on the other American territory.

The only part of the boundary in dispute is from the Portland Canal north along the coast to Mount St. Elias. The cession rom Russia fixes this, according to her treaty with Great Britain, as ten marine leagues from the ses. This is shown on all maps, British and otherwise, from 1825 to 1884, and the only change since then is a repudiated Canadian map. As is well known, the mainland is studded with islands from the Portland Canal north, eeny of them being very large.

Great Britain, seeing the chance to make that appeared to her to be a good point, what appeared to the len marine leagues means ten leagues, not from the mainland, but from the water share of these islands. claim so propostrous that the United States Government has never seriously considered

States and Great Britain providing for the marking of the 141st meridian was be-fore the Schate, II was carefully amended so as to make it impossible to include this lower boundary. The Senate will never agree to any treaty bearing upon the northern line, nor will the question ever be subof the State Department and diplomats look upon Grent Britain's ctalm in this respect as absurd and ridiculous

State Department Not.: Alarmed Sadie Tasker Took Sulphate of Morphine and Died.

she Quarreled With a Male Friend and Quickly Resolved to End Her Life.

Sadle Tasker, a young woman, who for the past week only was an inmate of the house of Della Ferguson, at No. 328 Thirteenth street northwest, quarreled with her lover last night and then took a large dose of sulphate of morphine and was found dead in bed at 7 o'clock this morn

Sadle Tasker was probably not the giri's correct name, but she was so known, at least since she came here from Philadelphia about eight months ago. She was about twenty-six or twenty-seven years of age, and was still quite handsome. Sh had a graceful form, a pretty face and a wealth of blonde hair.

Last night she went out with a male companion and drank considerable liquor. When she returned to the Ferguson House ber lover, a young man known as "Pink" chastised her for her condition, the young woman seemed much de-pressed because of his reproaches. She old the landlady that she had been drink ing too much whisky, and said she wa going upstairs to lie down for a while. In the meantime, she had gone acro be street to a little store and purchased a bottle of sulphate of morphine. Then going to her room, she mixed the contents of the phial in a glass of water, telling one of her friends that she was taking se temon seltzer.

In a short time the drug made het wildly delirious, and she called for the landlady, who thought that Sadie's actions were but the effects of the liquor she had drupk but concluded to telephone for a physician. The dector was not at home at the time and the young woman finally retired and was not discovered until one of her friends found her about 7 o'clock this morning cold in death. Policeman Bartel was notified, and at once sent to the Emer gency Hospital for an ambalance, bu when Dr Bahr arrived he found that the youan had already been dead for severa

She had given no intimation of her in tention to commit spicific, and no note or letter of explanation could be found this morning when Detective Kilmarin and Policeman Cochian made a search of the com and investigated the circumstances Acting Coroner Glazebrook was notified, and after looking into the case carefully gave a certificate of suicide.

The young woman for the past eight months has been an inmate of the house of Lottie Stanton, at No. 312 Thirteen street
